The Nazair rebellion was a event following the Nilfgaardian conquest of Nazair, around the 1260s where the local population of Nazair tried to rebel to the invaders.[1]

Emhyr var Emreis, the Imperator of Nilfgaard, handed the task to Major General Markus Braibant, who sent there a unit commanded by Ola Harsheim and Dacre Silifant in order to suppress the rebellion. The unit succeeded, although most of the population remained killed during the suppression.

It was however just one of the multiple uprising that happened throughout history: other uprisings raised in Ebbing, Maecht, Attre, Geso, Metinna, and Cintra.
